THE COLLEGE YEAR

The college year for 1912-13 begins Monday, September 23, 1912, and closes Thursday, June 19, 1913, and is divided into two terms with an intermission of about two weeks at Christmas and a brief recess at the middle of the second term. Students should present themselves promptly for registration on the dates fixed for that purpose in the calendar. Permits for late registration will be granted only for the most urgent reasons.

TWO COURSES

The preparation afforded by high schools and academies is generally not an adequate foundation for professional study. This has been shown by experience and is now recognized by those most interested in legal education. The College, therefore, offers two courses of instruction, one extending through four years and the other through three years.

The four-year course is designed primarily for those students who have only the preparation afforded by high schools and preparatory schools. The first year of this course consists almost entirely of studies pursued in the College of Arts and Sciences. It includes a single law subject, torts. Of the subjects in Arts and Sciences two are prescribed, the remainder are elected by the student, but his election must be made with the advice and consent of the Dean of the College of Law. A year of carefully selected college work is thus afforded preliminary to general professional study.

The three-year course is designed for college graduates and those who have completed at least one year of college work. It includes only law subjects, with a limited opportunity after the first year for electing subjects in Arts and Sciences. Both courses include the same law subjects, and both are designed to afford a thorough training in the principles of Anglo-American law, both in the substantive law and the law of procedure.

ADMISSION TO THE COLLEGE

Every applicant for admission to Cornell University must file at the Registrar's Office either a certificate of his good moral character, or, in case he has previously attended some other College or University without graduating from it, a certificate of his honorable dismissal from that institution.

Applicants for admission to the College of Law are entertained from the following four classes.

1. Persons who desire to begin as freshmen the four-year course leading to the degree LL.B.
2. Persons who desire to begin the first year of the three-year course leading to the degree LL.B.
3. Students who desire to be admitted with advanced standing as members of the second-year class in either the four-year course or the three-year course.
4. Persons who desire to register as special students not candidates for the degree LL.B.

The conditions for the admission of these four classes are separately described on pages 4, 5, and 6.

Applicants for admission expecting to take the New York Bar Examinations should, unless they have received the A.B. or equivalent degree, procure from the Department of Education at Albany a Regents' Law Student Certificate and file it with the clerk of the Court of Appeals. This, except in the case of special students, is not a prerequisite to admission to the College, but is, under the rules of the Court of Appeals, a prerequisite to the counting of time spent in the study of law in preparation for the Bar Examinations. The rules governing the subject of admission to the New York bar, with dates of holding bar examinations, may be obtained on application to F. M. Danaher, Secretary of the Board, 41-42 Bensen Building, Albany, N. Y.

Students expecting to take the Bar Examinations in other states should inform themselves concerning the preliminary educational requirements of their several states and secure the necessary evidence of their satisfaction.

1. THE FOUR-YEAR COURSE

Applicants for admission to the four-year course must be at least seventeen years of age, and must offer A, B, or C, as below:

A. Fifteen entrance units arranged as follows: English 3, history 1, elementary algebra 1, plane geometry 1, foreign languages 3, elective 6. The term unit signifies the equivalent of five recitations a week for one year in a study. All three of the required units in foreign languages must be in a single language. Any number of elective units in a second language will be accepted. If the applicant offers at least two units in a second language any number of units in a third language will be accepted. Up to but not including September 1913, candidates will not be required to offer three units in a single language, but will be admitted if they offer, among the fifteen necessary units, four in foreign language, provided they do not offer single units in any language. The A requirements for admission to the College of Law may be satisfied in any one of the four following ways:

- a. By passing the required Cornell University Entrance examinations.
- b. By passing the College Entrance Examination Board examinations in the required subjects.
- c. By passing the necessary Regents' examinations (for students who have prepared in New York State).
- d. By presenting an acceptable school certificate.

For the dates of the Cornell entrance examinations, list of entrance subjects, a full statement of the requirements in each entrance subject, and the requirements governing acceptance of College Entrance Board, Regents', and preparatory school certificates, see the General Circular of Information, which may be obtained, without charge, by addressing the Registrar, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

B. The Arts College Entrance Diploma or the Science College Entrance Diploma issued by the Department of Education of the State of New York.

C. A diploma or certificate of graduation from a university or college or a certificate that the applicant has met the entrance requirements and satisfactorily completed one year of study in a university or college of approved standing.

2. THE THREE-YEAR COURSE

Applicants for admission to the three-year course in the College of Law must be at least eighteen years of age and must present C as outlined above under the four-year course.

3. ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants for admission to advanced standing as members of the second-year class of either the three-year or the four-year course must be one year older than for admission to the first-year class of the respective course, must meet the educational requirements specified for admission to the first-year class, and must before admission to the second-year class pass a satisfactory examination in the work of the first year.

Examinations for advanced standing are held at the University in 1912 on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, September 23, 24, and 25, as follows: Monday, 9 a. m., contract and agency; 3 p. m., torts; Tuesday, 9 a. m., criminal law; 3 p. m., property; Wednesday, 9 a. m., civil procedure. These examinations must also be taken by students conditioned in any of the above subjects during the preceding year. (In 1913 the examinations begin on Monday, September 22.)

4. ADMISSION AS SPECIAL STUDENTS

Applicants who are twenty-one years of age may, in the discretion of the Faculty, be admitted to the College as special students not candidates for a degree, provided they present the New York Regents' Law Student Certificate or a substantial equivalent. This privilege will be granted only upon written application specifying the age of the applicant and the amount of preparatory study or of previous law study, and accompanied, if practicable, with certificates from the preparatory school, law school, or attorney under whose direction such studies have been pursued. New York students will not be admitted as special students unless they present a Regents' Law Student Certificate. Applicants are advised to correspond with the Dean of the College before presenting themselves in person. Special students may be admitted as candidates for a degree if they satisfy the entrance requirements before the beginning of their second year in College.

Examinations for the Removal of Conditions

Examinations for the removal of conditions are held, beginning Monday, September 23, as follows: Monday, 9 a. m., contract; agency; insurance; domestic relations and persons; 3 p. m., torts; equity; Tuesday, 9 a. m., criminal law; partnership; 3 p. m., first-year property; sales; Wednesday, 9 a. m., first-year civil procedure; second-year civil procedure; procedural papers; 3 p. m., evidence; probate law. Students conditioned in any of the above subjects must take these examinations unless excused for cause. In case of conflict, students must take first-year subjects before taking junior subjects.

Admission of Students from the College of Arts and Sciences

Seniors in good standing in the College of Arts and Sciences of the University are allowed, with permission of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences and with the consent of the Faculty of Law in each case, to take all or any part of their work in the College of Law and count it towards graduation in both colleges. Under this provision a student may in six years satisfy the requirements for the degree of A.B. and for the degree of LL.B.

THE FOUR-YEAR COURSE

First or Freshman Year

A. Introduction to Law. A brief course of lectures, with collateral reading, designed to give students at the outset a general view of the nature, scope, and classification of the law, the functions of courts and their mechanism, and the force and use of precedents. Woodruff's Introduction to the Study of Law. Professor IRVINE.

2. Torts (including Master and Servant). Three hours. Ames's and Smith's Cases on Torts. 2 vols. (vol. I, 3d ed., vol. II, 2d ed.); Huffcut's Cases on Agency (2d ed.). Professor HAYES.

Elementary Economics. H. & P. S. 51. Five hours, one term. A general survey of the field of economic thought, as well as preparation for carrying on further studies in the political sciences. Professor WILLCOX.

Second or Junior Year

Same as Third Year of Four-Year Course.

Third or Senior Year

Same as Fourth Year of Four-Year Course.

MATTERS APPLICABLE TO BOTH COURSES

SPECIAL COURSES OF LECTURES BEFORE THE COLLEGE OF LAW

ATTENDANCE REQUIRED OF JUNIORS AND SENIORS

[The Patent Laws of the United States. Twelve lectures. Mr. MACOMBER.]
Not given in 1912-13.

The Law of Shipping and Admiralty. Six lectures. Judge HOLT.

The Federal Bankruptcy Act. Ten lectures. Mr. HOTCHKISS.

Each of the above three courses is given in alternate years.

In addition to the above, the following lectures have been delivered before the students of the College during the winter of the year 1911-12.

The Supreme Court and the Sherman Law—A Noble Sacrifice. WILLIAM RAND, JR., of the New York Bar.

How to Examine a Questioned Document. ALBERT S. OSBORN, author of "Questioned Documents."

A course of lectures on Proposed Reforms in the Administration of the law will be delivered during the spring by Everett P. Wheeler of the New York Bar, chairman of the committees of the American Bar Association and the Bar Association of the City of New York dealing with the subject.

Many other lectures are given during each year under the auspices of the University or of some of its colleges. These are frequently of interest and value to students in the College of Law.

EXAMINATION AND CLASS STANDING

Examinations are held twice a year at the end of the term and papers are graded "excellent," "good," "pass," "condition". In order to remain in the College a student pursuing five subjects in any term must pass at least three of them, and a student pursuing less than five subjects must pass at least two of them (exclusive of brief making). A student having conditions in four term-subjects standing against him at the end of any year cannot take examinations to remove them unless he has, in an equal number of subjects, credits of the grade of "good" or "excellent". If he fails to meet this requirement at the end of the first year he must repeat that year; if at the end of the second year, he ceases to be a candidate for a degree with the class in which he is registered. A senior who after the September examination has more than two conditions standing against him will not be considered a candidate for graduation in that year.

Irregular attendance or neglect of work is sufficient cause for the removal of a student from the College at any time, and a student may be excluded from any examination because of irregular attendance or neglect of work in the course in which the examination is given.

PRACTICE DEPARTMENT¹

It is the belief of the Faculty that a law school curriculum should not be confined to instruction in the principles of substantive law. On the other hand, the rules whereby those principles are practically administered should engage a large part of the student's attention in order that upon graduation he may be reasonably qualified for the actual practice of his profession. It is realized that a

¹Rule VI of the New York State Board of Law Examiners (taking effect July 1, 1911) is as follows:

The Board will divide the subjects of examination into two groups, as follows: Group One, Pleading and Practice and Evidence; Group Two, Substantive Law, viz.: Real Property, Contracts, Partnership, Negotiable Paper, Principal and Agent, Principal and Surety, Insurance, Bailments, Sales, Criminal Law, Torts, Wills and Administration, Equity, Corporations, Domestic Relations, Legal Ethics and the Constitution of New York State and the United States. Each applicant will be required to obtain the requisite standard in both groups and on his entire paper to entitle him to a certificate from the Board. If he obtains the required standard in either group and not on his entire paper he will receive a pass card for the group which he passes and will not be required to be re-examined therein. He will be re-examined in the group in which he failed or on the entire paper if he failed in both groups at any subsequent examination for which he is eligible and for which he gives notice as required by these rules.

mastery of the details of practice can be acquired only as a result of years of experience. The Faculty believes, however, that it is within the power and is a part of the duty of a law school to afford adequate instruction in the principles of pleading and in the general and fundamental rules of practice. To this end several courses are offered. In the first year the student receives instruction in legal bibliography, the use of authorities, the actual finding and collating of authorities, and the preparation of briefs. This is given in the class room and by library practice. He is also instructed in the organization and jurisdiction of courts, federal as well as state, and the principles of common law pleading. The commencement of actions is then treated. In the first term of the junior year the course embraces parties to actions and the principles of code pleading. This course is followed in the second term by a course in which various pleadings and other instruments are drawn by the student, based upon hypothetical statements of facts. These papers are discussed in the class room and in individual consultations with the students preparing them. In the first half of the senior year there is given a somewhat extended course in New York practice. This course is not required of students who do not expect to take the New York Bar Examinations, but students from other states are encouraged to take it, as it is believed that a specific study of actual practice in one jurisdiction is better than a general survey of rules common to a number of jurisdictions but which do not alone afford an accurate knowledge of the practice actually existing in any. A course is also given in the practice of surrogate's, or probate courts, and in the last term of the senior year a practical course in conveyancing. In this way the student is so grounded in the principles that he should after coming to the Bar readily and speedily become proficient in the art of procedure.

EQUIPMENT

Boardman Hall. Boardman Hall is situated directly opposite the general library building and was erected for the exclusive use of the College of Law. It is a large three-story structure, 202 by 58 feet, built of Cleveland sandstone with interior finish of oak, and is practically fire proof. On the first floor are three commodious lecture rooms and necessary cloak rooms. On the second floor are the offices of the several professors. On the third floor are the library rooms with accommodations for over sixty thousand volumes and three hundred readers.

Law Library. The Library of the College of Law numbers about 43,300 volumes, to which generous additions are made yearly. It includes the well-known library of the late Nathaniel C. Moak of Albany, N. Y., which was presented in 1893, by Mrs. A. M. Boardman and Mrs. Ellen D. Williams, as a memorial to Judge Douglass Boardman, the first dean of the College. In reports of the Federal courts, reports of the several American State jurisdictions, and in English, Scotch, Irish, Canadian, and Australian reports, the law library is practically complete to date. The other English speaking countries are largely represented. The Earl J. Bennett collection of Statute Law, provided for by the gift of Earl J. Bennett, LL.B., 1901, embraces about 2,900 volumes of the session laws of all the states, and is rapidly approaching completion. The library also possesses a full complement of textbooks and statutes, and complete sets of substantially all law periodicals in English.

General Library. The University Library containing about 400,000 volumes and 60,000 pamphlets, is accessible to law students in the same way as to students in the other colleges.

Gymnasium and Physical Culture. The University gymnasium, under the direction of the Professor of Physical Culture, is open to all students in the University. See the General Circular of Information, pages 31 and 32.

Candidates for a degree in the four-year course must take during the first two years three hours of physical training a week,—the first year in the Department of Military Science and Tactics and the second year either in that department or in the Department of Physical Culture as they may elect. Candidates for a degree in the three-year course must take during their first year three hours a week of physical training and may elect to take it in either department. Women take all their work in the Department of Physical Culture. Drill and physical training are not required of college graduates. See the General Circular of Information, pages 33 and 34.

Cornell Infirmary. The Infirmary, together with an endowment, was presented to the University in 1897, by Dean Sage and William H. Sage. The building is equipped with all modern appliances for the care of patients, has a staff of trained nurses, and is open to all students. See the General Circular of Information, pages 25 and 34.

DEGREES AND CERTIFICATES

Degree. The degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) is conferred upon all students who have met the entrance requirements and satisfactorily completed all the work of either the three-year or the four-year course. No student is allowed to graduate except after three years of actual residence (or four years if in the four-year course) unless admitted to advanced standing, in which case one year of law study elsewhere may be counted toward the time required.

Certificate of Attendance. Each student who has been in regular attendance upon the College, whether entitled to a degree or not, may, on application to the Faculty, receive an official certificate of attendance, which states the time of his attendance, and, if desired, the degree of his attainments. The certificate of a year's satisfactory attendance required by the Bar examiners, implies not only regular attendance upon, but the successful completion of the prescribed course of instruction for a full year (not less than ten hours per week). Students in the four-year course will therefore receive no time certificate for the first year, but will after regular attendance and on the successful completion of that course receive a time certificate for the required three years.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES

State Scholarships. Under the law of the State of New York the Commissioner of Education is empowered to award annually a number of free scholarships in Cornell University equal to the number of Assembly districts in the State of New York. Each scholarship entitles the holder to free tuition for four years beginning in the September immediately following the award of the scholarship. For further information, see the General Circular of Information, pages, 31, 32.

University Undergraduate Scholarships. Eighteen University Undergraduate Scholarships, continuing for two years and of an annual value of $200 each, are offered each year to members of the incoming freshman class. The award is made on the basis of a special competitive examination held in Ithaca in September between the period of the entrance examinations and the opening of the University. For further information see the General Circular of Information, page 28.

Boardman Senior Law Scholarship. A Senior Law Scholarship of the value of one hundred dollars, the gift of Judge Douglass Boardman, the first Dean of the College, is awarded annually in June to the junior who has, in the judgment of the Faculty, done the best and most satisfactory work in law subjects to the end of his junior course.¹ It is available during the senior year and is payable in the same way as other University undergraduate scholarships. This scholarship may be forfeited in case the Faculty is satisfied that the holder has not maintained a high standard of work, or has been guilty of any conduct unbecoming the holder of such a scholarship.

Fraser Scholarships. Two scholarships of the value respectively of $100 and $50, the gift of William Metcalf, jr., LL.B., 1901, in memory of Alexander Hugh Ross Fraser, late librarian of the College, are awarded annually about the beginning of the college year to seniors whose law course has been taken entirely in Cornell University. They are awarded to students who have most fully evidenced high qualities of mind and character by superior achievement in scholarship and by those attributes of manliness which earn the commendation of teachers and fellow students. The award is made upon recommendation of the senior class by vote from a list of members submitted by the Faculty as eligible by reason of superior scholarship. The holder of the Boardman Scholarship is not eligible.²

University Prizes. Various prizes in literature, declamation, debate, etc. are offered annually. For details concerning their award, the special pamphlet on prizes, to be obtained from the Registrar, should be consulted.

FEES AND EXPENSES

(See General Circular of Information, pages 25-27.)

Tuition Fees. The fee for tuition for all law students, except special students, is $100 a year, payable in instalments of $55 at the beginning of the first term and $45 at the beginning of the second term. The fee for special students in law is $125 a year, payable in instalments of $70 at the beginning of the first term and $55 at the beginning of the second term.

A matriculation fee of $5 is charged all students on first entering the University.

A fee of $10 to cover expenses of graduation, degree, etc., is charged to each person taking the baccalaureate degree. This fee must be paid at least ten days before commencement.

Expenses. A student's expenses at Cornell, beyond the stated University fees and a small outlay for textbooks, depends in large measure on his personal tastes and habits. In the College of Law, the books for the first year cost from ¹Awarded for 1911-12 to Cedric Aylwin Major, Brooklyn, N. Y.

²Awarded in 1911-12 to William Blackman Flannery, of Addison, N. Y., and Newman Edward Wait, of Ft. Edward, N. Y.

$25 to $40. By the sale of books at the end of each year the cost of books for the ensuing year may ordinarily be entirely met. His expenses, other than those for board and room, may be estimated at the normal rate prevailing throughout that section of the country in which Ithaca is situated.

The cost of board and room furnished with heat and light varies from $5 to $12 a week. By the formation of clubs, students are sometimes able to reduce their expenses for room and board.

Further information upon points not covered by this announcement may be had by addressing THE COLLEGE OF LAW, CORNELL UNIVERSITY, ITHACA, N. Y.
